

The People's Column

I noticed in the Eagle of yesterday a press notice from Gainesville, where the citizens of that town had raised a donation of $1,000 for the Little Theatre of that city. The Little Theatre movement is becoming quite popular throughout these United States and it should be very gratifying to Bryan citizens that Bryan was first of the smaller towns of Texas to take the lead and underwrite a Little Theatre. So marvelous was the success of the first year of the Little Theatre in Bryan, that a larger program is to be launched for the coming season. Some real artists, to our way of thinking, have been discovered in Bryan and the Little Theatre is the vehicle which is going to develop this talent until it will be nationally known. When the time arrives every citizen should throw their support to the undertaking of the Little Theatre.

College of Texas last week, left Monday accompanied by H. H. Williamson, state agent of the Extension Service of the College, for an extended tour of the state. This trip will continue a program of agricultural study begun three years ago by Mr. Cobb. He has spent two years in Europe and one year in Canada. His Texas itinerary includes visits to the fig sections of Galveston and Harris counties, the citrus sections of the Rio Grande Valley, a review of the cotton sections between Kingsville and Corpus Christi, inspection of the So-Rora Ranch Experiment Station and attendance at the Ranchman's Round-Up there on August 17 and 18, a study of the alfalfa and cotton growing sections under the Elephant Butte Irrigation System and other agricultural fields. MIRIAM FERGUSON "CRAWFISHES" ON ELECTION BET DUEL PROVES FATAL TO BOTH AGED TEXAS PLAINSMEN

MRS. FERGUSON TO STAY ON JOB AND ENTER IN RUN-OFF PRIMARY

Governor Miriam A. Ferguson Declares Moody Did Not Accept Her Proposition and Only Accepted "Jim's Bluff"—Executive Will Not Honor Proposition Made by Her Husband in Pre-Election Bet—She Declares Moody's Huge Lead in First Primary is Evidence of a "Klan Victory" Which the Organization is Celebrating—Miriam Charges Moody Forfeited Right to Enter Run-Off Primary When He Accepted Contributions From Representatives Satterwhite and Bobbitt, Candidates for State Legislature.

(By Associated Press) AUSTIN, Aug. 11.—Governor Miriam A. Ferguson declared that she is in the race for Governor "with all my heart." In a 2,000-word statement, she charged that Dan Moody, her chief opponent, never had accepted her offer to resign. Mrs. Ferguson makes the Ku Klux Klan her principal issue, declaring that the Klan is celebrating Moody's large vote in the first primary as a "Klan victory." She said that her duty to the state was "greater than my personal preference and private life." Moody, she charged, forfeited the right to a place in the run-off primary and the general election because of his alleged acceptance of campaign contributions from Representatives Satterwhite and Bobbitt, both candidates for the Legislature.

DAN ACCEPTED CHALLENGE OF JIM—NOT MIRIAM Referring to her challenge that Moody resign, Mrs. Ferguson said "not only did he not accept my proposition, but he left himself in a position where he would not be bound in case I should have led him by 25,000 votes in the first primary. Here are his very words: I accept the challenges issued by Jim in his wife's name. In other statements he called the proposition of Jim's bluff but never actually accepted my proposition." "I submit to all fair-minded people that the acceptance of the challenge by Jim was not an acceptance of the challenge by Miriam." Attacking the Moody faction, the Governor says: "I do not accede to their demands but remain at my post to perform the work I promised to perform, regardless of the consequences." In the statement on July 26th, Mrs. Ferguson promised to resign at the close of the special session of the Legislature which she called for Sept. 13.

Over Forty New Members Added At Henry Prairie

The Henry Prairie Baptist Church closed one of the greatest revival meetings in the history of the church last Sunday. The meeting lasted two weeks and the community was blessed with a wonderful harvest of new born souls into the Kingdom. There were forty-one additions to the church, twenty-three coming by baptism. The baptismal services were held at the Ector Crossing on Cedar Creek. It was a most beautiful service. Every step was taken in accordance with the scripture. Rev. Alpha Shelton of West did the preaching, assisted by Rev. Lem Crouch, pastor. The presence of the Holy Spirit was felt from the very beginning and continued throughout the services, unfolding hearts into the blossom of God's love and mercy.

Evening prayer services were held each day out under the trees in various groups. The juniors held an average attendance of about thirty. The seniors reported an average attendance of about twenty-five, while the ladies' and men's groups brought the total average to about seventy-five or eighty. Some evenings as many as one hundred persons were in these prayer meetings. It is impossible to estimate just what these services contributed to the success of the revival. It is enough to say that those attending felt "Nearer My God to Thee." Many of the young folks led in prayer who had never done so before. It is our prayer that this good work may continue with the re-dedication of the old-time family altar.

At the close of the campaign the church took a forward step by calling the pastor for half time instead of the usual fourth Sunday. The preaching days will now be every second and fourth Sunday.

The Teachers' Training School being held this week at the First Baptist church is making splendid progress with a fine enrollment of earnest students, the two hours of study from 7:30 to 9:30 each evening are proving both pleasant and profitable. WELCOME RAIN IS ONLY .05 INCH

This afternoon about 2:30 o'clock a wind-and-sand storm came over, preceding a light shower. Stores were littered with dust and sand from the dry streets but a light shower fell immediately after the storm settling the dust on the outside. The standard rain gauge maintained at the offices of the Eagle Printing Company registered .05 of an inch at 3:00 o'clock, following the shower. A good rain is said, would not only help the crops now but aid much in the elimination of the terrific heat.

VICTOR BORISKIE GIVES A BIG BARBECUE TO POULTRY SECTION OF THE FARMERS' SHORT COURSE

The poultry section of the Farmers' Short Course held its afternoon meeting at the Golden Rule Poultry Farm, in Shiro Community, east of College, Victor Boriskie, proprietor. Mr. and Mrs. Boriskie showed the visitors over his fine poultry farm, exhibiting his Barred Plymouth Rocks and White Leghorns and showing how he cared for them and the methods he used in handling his flocks. The great crowd of people and those interested particularly in poultry were greatly enthused in their work to see the fine order and method with which Mr. Boriskie conducts his business. They visited his hatchery, for which a special building was erected and which contains the business offices of the institution.

The party then adjourned to the Shiro Club House, not far from the poultry farm and there a big game of indoor baseball, or "punk-in" ball, was enjoyed, entitled "Brazos County vs. the World" and Brazos county won by a small margin.

Immediately following the ball game, all gathered at the side of the Club house where long tables had been constructed and on which was placed an abundance of barbecued meat of all kinds, cake, pickles and bread, in readiness for the consumption of the feast. A soda water stand on the porch of the club house, served refreshments. The barbecue was free to all visitors and everyone ate all that they cared for and there was as abundance left.

Preceding the barbecue, Mr. Boriskie mounted a box, and amid the cheers of the audience, bade them welcome and expressed his appreciation for their visit to his farm and for coming to partake of his hospitality. He asked them to eat all they desired and to take some of what there might be left, home for someone else. Following the feast the crowd of some 200 or 300 people returned to the College or their several homes. Almost every community of Brazos County was represented at the barbecue and many sections of the state as well. All the leading poultrymen of this section were on hand.

Everyone who attended has only the highest words of praise to offer Mr. and Mrs. Boriskie for their wonderful hospitality, for their fine poultry farm and their methods of conducting business on the motto of his farm which follows its name "The Golden-Rule Poultry Farm."

tion will be held under supervision of agents of the Extension Service. A boys' meeting will be directed by S. C. Evans, state agent of Boys' Clubs, with the Extension Service. Entertainment features will include motion pictures, a dance, barbecue, and a polo game.

Woman has an economic responsibility in the conservation of materials, no matter whether she feels personally the need of saving or not. Many materials are wasted because they are of an undesirable color. It is possible now to discharge the original hue, even of black fabrics, and to re-color them as desired.

Study of Colors: Which ones are suited to certain types of individuals; how tints may be obtained by mixing certain colors.

Preparations for Dyeing: Determine kind of dye best suited to material. Light tints may be secured by mere dipping. Darker tones are usually better when boiled in. Ribbons, feathers, laces, etc., may be colored with oil paint dissolved in gasoline. Lace may be tinted with yellow ochre powder.

Have suitable vessels and sufficient dye bath to cover materials easily. Wash material thoroughly, and dye while still moist. Follow directions very carefully. Test a scrap of the material to see if the color is right. Stir material continuously while it remains in dye bath. Rinse thoroughly, and press carefully after dyeing.

Materials faded in spots or streaks will not take evenly any dye except black. Such articles should be faded to a sameness if they are to be dyed any other color.

F. D. Fuller, chief of Feed Control department Experiment Station A. and M. College, who recently underwent a successful minor operation at the Bryan Hospital has recovered sufficiently to be removed to his home where he will be glad to see his friends.

Two women's meetings at the veterinary laboratory of the station.

Significant topics to be discussed include: Diseases of Live Stock, Dr. H. Schmidt, chief of division of veterinary science of the A. and M. College; and Dr. D. H. Bennett, veterinarian, Ranch Experiment Station, Sonora; Sheep and Goat Breeding Problems, J. M. Jones, chief of the division of range animal husbandry, A. and M. College; Shrinkage of Live Stock in Transit, Mr. Denman. Demonstrations in grading wool, sheep, Angora goats and cattle and mohair and judging fine-wool held on the last afternoon of the meeting.

There it goes. Everytime the lineotype machine misappels a word it gets us in trouble. And of course Sam Miller would be the very first one to discover the error then call everybody's attention to it. We have to confess we don't wear shirts, yet, only skirts, but if we did we assure you it would be a white one.

Well, it was an American girl that did it. Miss Gertrude Ederle. She put it across and succeeded in swimming the English Channel. The first woman to swim the channel, she has definitely proven that a woman can swim and second, she has proven a woman can swim the Channel faster than a man. We can't agree that any particular good was accomplished by the woman, who dared to do what the men have done for years, but at least admire her determination, courage, bull dog tenacity and Amazon-like physique. Just another example of woman daring to accomplish the thing she sets out to do.

That's true and the Mineral Wells girl had a first cousin living in Bryan who thinks "Humoresque" is a comic song.

REEL POETRY

Twinkle, twinkle, little star, Just above the trolley car, If the car should jump the track, Would I get my nickel back? —University of Washington Columns.

Shrinkle, shrinkle, palm beach suit, You were large and some to boot; But now you've shrunk to stature small, And I can't get into you at all.

Reference was made by the speaker to the conditions in India and China where only low grade cotton can be produced and then at exceptionally cheap prices owing to the general standards of living of the Hindus and Chinese. "When the growers of cotton in Texas and the South produce cotton of low quality in competition with the low quality of India and China, they are lowering their standards of living in a competition of similar ratio." Cotton of one inch staple of good hard-bodied character was declared by him to be cotton of a standard quality needed and required by the spinners throughout the world, and "as long as we produce the kind of cotton they need, we need have no fear of disastrous competition. As long as we can supply the needs for this cotton, the longer Brazil, with its facilities for producing quality cotton, will be in becoming a dominant factor in supplying the world's needs for quality cotton."

Ignorant Farmer.

The growing of a standard quality cotton in the various communities throughout the State, in consideration of the soil for which it is best adapted, was urged by Dr. Youngblood, as well as the building up of the interior market to respect such quality.

"The most helpless man in the world, to my mind," he said, "is that farmer who goes to the market and knows not the value of the bale in his wagon, whether he has a paste or a real diamond in value—that farmer who knows not whether his cotton commands a price of nine cents or eighteen cents a pound." Ninety-three percent of Texas cotton last year was marketed without the producer being fully cognizant of the true value of his cotton "and the cotton growers of Texas are too intelligent to continue this practice." Farmers of Texas should refuse to sell a single bale of cotton until they know themselves the value thereof," he stated.

The fact that members of a cotton cooperative marketing association receive full value for grade, staple, color, character and luster of their cotton was brought out during the discussion.

TOTAL NET PROCEEDS OF BALE AMOUNTED TO THE SUM OF $226.00

Bale Ginned by McDowell Gin Company, Weighed by Farmers Union Warehouse as 566 Pounds; Sold by Lawrence Grocery Co. to R. M. Gordon of Houston.

Mike Wisoski has won the honors of having produced the first bale of 1926 cotton in Brazos county. The bale was brought in to Bryan by Mr. Wisoski, and taken to the McDowell Gin Company, where it was ginned this morning. It was weighed in at the Farmers' Union Warehouse, weighing 566 pounds. It was classed strict middling with 1-18 inch staple. The bale was sold by the Lawrence Grocery Company, cotton factors, to R. M. Gordon & Company of Houston, for 25 cents per pound, bringing $141.50. The seed was sold to the Bryan Cotton Oil and Fertilizer Company of Bryan at the rate of $100 per ton, the receipts from this bale being $49.50, there being 990 pounds of seed. The Chamber of Commerce of Bryan had offered $25 cash for a prize for the first bale of cotton; and the Lawrence Grocery Company offered a barrel of flour valued at $10. The total receipts of the first bale were $226. R. M. Gordon bought the bale largely from sentiment as he used to live in this county and has for it a warm place in his heart.

FORMER WINNERS.

Winners of previous years, according to information furnished the Eagle are as follows: August 1, 1922, Jno. Noticha; July 28, 1923, Burleson County; August 5, 1924, M. W. Sims and Sam Cavitt; July 4, 1925, Allen Carr. This year's bale is on the date of August 9, the latest date in the list.

Mr. Wisoski reports that he has about 50 acres in cotton but that he gleaned over only about 15 acres to get the first bale. This is the first time Mr. Wisoski has ever had the first bale honors.

Mr. Wisoski lives near the A. and M. College, about three miles from Bryan and is truly a diversified farmer. He has 250 acres of land in the whole farm and has five acres in all kinds of truck, 25 acres in corn, 7 acres in sorghum, and 2 acres in feterita. He will raise enough feed this year to care for all his stock next winter, including 14 head of dairy cows, which supplies all the butter for Hotel Bryan. In his orchard he has peaches, apples and pears.

COUNTY NURSING NOTES

By County Public Health Nurse Miss Ella Bandelin

Frequently, in making home calls or doing follow-up work in the communities, the following question is asked by parents: "Now that summer is here, you don't have as much work to do, do you? With schools closed, you have not many inspections to make, it would seem."

Inspection of school children naturally is done when schools are in session, but that is just one form of nursing activities. To give the parents a better idea of what the county nurse does, a partial account of services rendered during July follows: Seven names of expectant mothers reported to the State Board of Health Office, so that helpful letters and literature might be sent to them; one postnatal case visited; thirteen new infants (children under 2 years) unreported; four conferences for infants and pre-school children held; six infants found to have remediable defects; eight physical defects found in these six infants; two corrections of defects in infants secured; five home visits made in the interest of infant welfare; three pre-school age children examined by doctors and found to have seven physical defects; seven corrections of defects in pre-school children secured; twelve home visits to pre-school age children; two children of this group received dental care through efforts of the County Nurse; fifteen school children referred to physician and dentist and found to have 23 defects; eleven corrections of these defects secured; eleven school children known to be underweight have gained average weight (there are, no doubt, many others in the county whom the nurse has not yet weighed); two school children receiving dental care through the County Nurse's efforts; eight regular class meetings of Home Nursing Class held, in which various procedures of "Home Nursing" were demonstrated to the girls; six more mid-wives (colored) located in the county, making a total thus far of about 40; five class meetings held for midwives; thirty-one individual conferences with midwives; ten demonstrations given on bedside care and preparation of food for the sick. Thirteen public talks given; one hundred and thirty-eight individual conference with adults regarding health and health work. Nine doctors and dentists co-operated with the Nurse. Two hundred and ninety-one births recorded in past month, of infants, pre-school children, and school children in all parts of Brazos county; seven social service visits made; eight nursing care visits in which bedside care was demonstrated to the family; sixty-five hours spent in maternity and infancy welfare (the care of the baby begins with the care of the mother). Nine and a half hours spent in communicable disease control; eighteen hours spent on records, statistics, correspondence, etc.; thirty-six and a half hours spent travelling over county; sixty-two homes were visited.

In addition, one whole day was spent at the Bryan Hospital caring for five Brazos county children of pre-school and school age who had had their tonsils and adenoids removed. As a result of the "Summer Round-Up" and of following up work of school children, these five children having badly infected and enlarged tonsils were given much-needed care. As the parents were unable financially to have these operations performed, Mrs. Frank L. Thomas, who is a member of the County Public Health Committee, and a resident of College Station, undertook to secure funds to give these needy children care. The County Public Health Committee is grateful and so are the parents of these little ones, to the physicians, the hospital staff, and the lay people who help to make this possible.

It is planned to have another day or two of this kind before school opens for other children of the county having tonsil and adenoid troubles. Anyone knowing of needy families in which such marked defects exist, is asked to get in touch with the County Public Health Nurse as soon as possible, that arrangements for the children's care might be made.

Typhoid Fever Case Found.

A case of typhoid fever which developed in a Mexican family living in one of the shacks along the railroad tracks of Bryan also demanded the attention of the nurse. In looking for the home of a sick Mexican baby one evening, the Nurse happened to find the sick Mexican child, who had been ill for several days. Suspicious that it might be typhoid, the Nurse reported conditions as she found them to the physician who had been to the home three days previous. At his suggestion, a "Wile" test was made to determine whether or not the suspicions were correct. The test showed it to be a positive typhoid case. Vaccine has been given to the immediate family and neighboring families to prevent the spreading of the disease. Up to the present time, no other cases have developed.

It was interesting to note the co-operation of the Mexican family. At the first visit of the nurse, the little lad was grimy as could be. He had not had a bath for the past two weeks. In addition, the bed clothes were badly soiled, and the general appearance of the place was uninviting. Through repeated demonstrations in the home, the parents soon learned the need of cleanliness, and the danger of the common house fly in the care of a typhoid case.

It was most encouraging to see how day by day the family made living conditions better in the home. One day everything but the child's bed, a box serving as a bedside table, and the cook stove were moved out of the house, and the walls and floors scrubbed and disinfected. The mother has learned how to give the little sponge baths in bed; how to change his bed linens; how to prepare wholesome, nourishing food for the patient; and other nursing procedures. They know the nurse is a "friend".

Several families have been given shoes and clothing which had been turned in at the nurse's office for distribution to families where the need of these articles was urgent. Supplies from the county Loan Closet were loaned to another family.

Requests for "help" are frequent and varied. A convalescing widow, with six little children to support, states that for the next month or so her income will be $5 per week. Food, money, and clothing would be appreciated by her.

"The rarest" request was this: "Could the nurse in any way help a woman to secure a separation from a 'no-account, nohow' husband, and yet obtain alimony for the children?"

Some time was spent preparing for demonstrations at the Short Course at the A. and M. College. The girls of the Home Nursing Class of the Consolidated School made a layette for "Betty Jane Brazos," the county demonstration doll. Miss Betty Jane was dressed in the latest fashion for the occasion.

TEXAS FARMER CRAZY WITH HEAT-KILLED ONE PERSON

(By Associated Press)

YORKTOWN, Aug. 7.—Two persons are dead and another is in the hospital, probably fatally injured, as a result of a shooting at the farm home of C. J. Mueller, north of here, early today. Reports to the authorities indicated that William Mueller was crazed by the heat and ran amuck with a shotgun. He killed his cousin, Mrs. C. J. Mueller. He shot Mueller through the stomach and then blew his own head off.

Miss Landon's work is primarily in rural community lines and she is interested in developing progress in every phase of community life. In order to develop communities, Miss Landon believes that the community club is the best manner of so doing. She thinks a community club should do four things: first, give people a good time; second, it should give them some real food for thought and the brain something to feed upon; third, it should give them some inspiring material or something to give them incentive to do; and fourth, it should give them something to eat.

"I believe," said Miss Landon, in an interview, "that each club should have some set objectives or goals to attain, and scratch these from the list as fast as attained or as they have been found unattainable."

One of the first objectives should be: Public Health. More definitely it should be elimination on typhoid fever, diphtheria, small pox and other diseases which are preventable by use of vaccine or serum. A healthy body and a healthy mind are all we need. There should be clinics for the special purpose of tonsils and adenoids; all sanitary measures that can be adopted through the year around the home and in public institutions should be stressed.

As a second objective Miss Landon would put education of the youth of the community. That would be to secure appreciation of the standard elementary school and all rural high school work on the part of the people of the community. Secure, also, understanding and interest.

As a third objective I would place Welfare Work, divided into two sections: People and Institutions. In North Carolina there is a welfare department that looks after all aged and orphans, as well as afflicted people. Children with club feet have them straightened and become interested in athletics. Cottages are provided for mothers so that the children may remain under their care instead of being sent to orphan's homes. The various communities should do that kind of welfare work and will find the possible clients varied and divided into two general classes; first those that could help needing assistance; second those that can't help needing it.

Under the objectives' list, Miss Landon would next place the subject of Home Makers Work. She said there should be an appreciation on the part of the community for the work of the home demonstration agent in helping to make the rural homes more beautiful and comfortable and convenient. The agent should help in the selection, preparation and care of food. She should help with the cultural side of the home through discussions of books, magazines, and papers and helping in their distribution.

"My experience in these clubs," said Miss Landon, "has been that they add a certain amount of civic pride to the community."

There should be an appreciation of farm work, was her next objective, which includes the county agent and his endeavors for soil improvement and economical production of home supplies. I think there should be an appreciation of farm organizations such as Farmers Trade Unions, the Federal Farm Loan Institution, the marketing Associations, etc. It should be the aim of every farm community to make an income out of the farm for every activity in the community depends largely upon the income of the farms themselves. The standard of living in a community, the possibilities of education of the boys and girls, etc., as well as the support of the churches, depends upon the amount of income the farmer gets in return for his labors and efforts.

A part of this appreciation should be in a genuine appreciation of the man who brings in the money through his labor as a farmer. In other words, the progression of farming should be respected with the other professions of the city and rural communities.

Miss Landon has two prize pieces of literature as pertain to rural community work. One of them is a club book which contains a sample page of "minutes" of meetings in the front and blank pages on which to record the proceedings of the business session for year. There is then a sketch of how to organize a community club, the first steps, what should be done at the first few meetings, the various committees that should be named and should function; the work of the officers of the club, etc., and finally there is in the back of the book a list of topics which may be discussed at each of the monthly meetings throughout the year. There is also a wealth of data on each of the monthly projects suggested. For instance, in February is the program on Lincoln and there are pieces about Lincoln, poems and prose articles, speeches and readings, as well as Lincoln's own "Gettysburg Address" and "Farewell Address" at Springfield. This data is all collected in one place and may be used in the program.

In addition to this community club book, Miss Landon has a pageant book with full directions for putting on a pageant depicting all the various activities in a rural community. It is one of the best things of its kind ever printed and tells the knowledge of experience of Miss Landon throughout eight years of rural community work in the South.

More Economic Production Is Chief Problem

(Special to the Eagle)

COLLEGE STATION, Aug. 7.—"There can be no permanent solution to the major problems of the farmer until the basic problem, that of more economic production, is more nearly solved than it is now," declared C. A. Cobb, of Atlanta, Georgia, editor of the Southern Ruralist, in an address before the Farmers' Short Course at the A. and M. College of Texas on Friday night. Mr. Cobb was speaking on the subject "Insurance Policy for Agriculture," before a large audience which had assembled in the Assembly Hall for the final meeting of the Short Course.

"The biggest problem facing the individual farmer today," Mr. Cobb continued, "and one he as an individual must solve, is that of increasing the yields of his crops." The speaker further stated that "it is time we force the government to give the farmer the proper legislative measures which he now is not getting." Mr. Cobb endorsed the Farm Relief Bill which was recently defeated, and which is to come up before Congress this Fall.

WINNERS ANNOUNCED IN CLOTHING CONTEST

(Special to the Eagle).

COLLEGE STATION, Aug. 6.—Eighty counties of Texas, with a total of 132 girls, were represented in the sixth annual appropriate dress contest of Texas club girls held at the A. and M. College of Texas this week during the Course, under the direction of Mrs. Dona Barnes, clothing specialist of the Extension Service. Seventy-nine girls were entered in class 1, which consisted of the school costume with all accessories, shoes, hose, hat, etc., and 53 girls were entered in class 2, which consisted of graduation or summer costume, with all accessories. Preliminary contests were held in 84 counties of the state, with a total of 2818 girls entered. MISS SUSAN LANDON IS ONE OF FEATURE ATTRACTIONS AT A.M. SHORT COURSE—ON RURAL WORK

One of the most interesting, original and strongest characters on the program and attending the sessions of the Farmers' Short Course at A. and M. College last week was Miss Susan Landon, connected with the Co-operative Marketing Association of North Carolina, whose home is in Raleigh. She leaves College tonight for Stillwater, Oklahoma where her services are desired at the A. and M. College of that state.

Miss Landon's work is primarily in rural community lines and she is interested in developing progress in every phase of community life. TAKING A. & M. COLLEGE TO RURAL PEOPLE

By CHARLES H. ALVORD
Director of the Extension Service,
A. and M. College

"To my mind we should look upon county agricultural agents, home demonstration agents, and club agents within the county as constituting a little part of the State College of Agriculture located in the county; a permanent, practical local teaching institution, an organic part of the college itself, teaching in its practical aspects what the colleges teach, as permanent as the college itself, to continue as long as the college continues, a plan devised by the college for teaching practical agriculture and home economics to men and women, boys and girls who cannot attend the college, essentially a sub-agricultural college outside the college walls whose teachers are members of the college faculty. Extension work has come that the agricultural colleges may continue to educate throughout the whole span of the farmer's life, and to know no limits other than the boundaries of the State."

From One to Group.
The farm demonstration work in Texas has over twenty years successful record to its credit. There have been many changes in methods, but the demonstration idea has been the dominant feature of our work during this period. We began working with individual farmers, and gradually extended the influence of our work by the utilization of group leaders who were well trained to demonstrate the practices or continue the result demonstrations through to a successful conclusion. In this way practices relating to soil improvement, seed selection, methods of planting, methods of preserving food in the farm home, methods of cooking, habits of dress, and many other practices have become well established, so much so that they are a part of farm life on hundreds of thousands of farms and farm homes.

Improve Farm Life.
During the past twenty years we have put stress on efficiency in production, and we must continue to stress this important feature of farm management and home building, yet, while this is of primary importance, at the same time we would not measure up to our opportunities if we failed to recognize the problems of distribution and marketing that are just as essential as the problems of production, which, however, we have not considered very seriously up to the present time.

The ultimate aim of Extension work is to reconstruct agriculture along improved lines of greater production, better marketing facilities, and more comfortable farm homes, but like the fabled pot of gold at the end of the rainbow, we can never reach the ultimate goal because no matter how much we get the farmers to improve their methods, each new achievement becomes an inspiration to greater endeavor, and we never reach the limit of possibilities.

Some Farm Problems.
It would be impossible to mention all the problems confronting Texas agriculture today in which we, as County Agent and Home Demonstration Agents, should be interested.

I will endeavor to mention only a few of the things I think we should give attention to, and these may be considered essential:

(1) Soil improvement. A prosperous and contented husbandry cannot be expected on unproductive land, and the problem of increasing the productive capacity of the soil should have a prominent place on the program of development in every county in the State. Soil improvement necessarily must begin with the consideration of the engineering problems involved, such as terracing, irrigation and drainage. It must also include the use of fertilizers, crop rotation, and the importance of saving of all the manure from livestock.

In one county in North Texas a few demonstrations in sweet clover were started about five years ago. The results of these demonstrations in growing this legume have been so conclusive and so favorable that more than twenty thousand pounds of sweet clover seeds were planted last year. Our Agronomist is prepared to recommend type of legumes for every section of the State, and his assistance should be of much value to County Agents desiring to start projects in soil improvement with legumes.

Seed Improvement.
(2) The second important step in agricultural development is the improvement of the type of seed sown, or the kind of livestock kept on the farm. And here the agents, through co-operation with the farmers in their respective counties, and through co-operation among themselves will be able to render a great service to the farmers of Texas. The ultimate aim in seed improvement is to get all of the farmers to use pure seed of high yielding strains, especially of the principal crops including cotton, corn, wheat, and grain sorghums. The Experiment Station can test out, and determine the value of new varieties, but the production of seed in commercial quantities must be done by the farmers. Through organized co-operative effort this pure line seed should find its way into the hands of the farmers in all parts of the region who would be pledged to grow nothing but pure line seed on their farms. Standardization of certain varieties in certain localities will establish better market conditions and a better price.

Economy Surveys.
The ranch livestock industry presents one of the most interesting regional problems in Texas agriculture. In former days, with cheap land and cheap labor, the ranching industry was always profitable over a period of years. More recently, ranchmen, in common with others interested in agriculture, have suffered heavy losses and the increased cost of pasture and high cost of labor and supplies have wiped out the margin of profit. During recent months an Economic Survey has been made of the Ranch Industry in the territory in Texas west of the Pecos, also in parts of New Mexico and Arizona. This survey was similar to the one conducted in the Northwest. The Extension Department and Experiment Stations of Texas, New Mexico, and Arizona co-operated with the Bureau of Animal Industry in conducting this survey. G. W. Barnes, our Livestock Specialist, represented the Extension Service and several of the County Agents in this work, and we hope as a result of their studies some very important demonstrations in Ranch Management may be forthcoming.

Dairying conditions occupy an important place in the Extension program in every part of the state, but the present trend seems to indicate increased interest in the north and western counties. The introduction of purebred sires and the formation of Bull Circles, properly financed and organized on a business basis will ultimately lead to marked improvement in the quality of dairy animals kept on the farms in those counties.

Poultry Progress.
The production of hogs needs no stimulation at the present time. Good prices will inevitably lead to increased production, and in due time the pendulum will begin to swing the other way.

Our progress in poultry work in Texas has been very definite and satisfactory. Through the influence of the Extension Service we have put hundreds of thousands of purebred fowls on Texas farms, and taught the principles of feeding for growth and egg production, and the culling of the flocks and the weeding out of the non-productive fowls. To a limited extent we have developed markets, but this work does not measure up to the success we have attained in production. Two essential features must necessarily receive the attention of the County Agents and Home Demonstration Agents in pushing the poultry work in the future. One of these is better housing and sanitation. The other is a better grading and organization for marketing purposes.

Control Measures.
The greatest annual loss to Texas as agriculture is caused by the depredation of insects. It is impossible to estimate just how much this is, or how much might be saved by well organized effort on the part of farmers to combat these infestations. There is no greater service we can render the people of the State of Texas than to encourage, in every way possible, a wider application of control measures for insects on fruit, truck and farm crops as worked out by our Experiment Station entomologists. Our efforts in the past have been largely in the application of remedies after the infestation occurs. Instead of attempting to prevent loss, we have waited until the conflagration has started and then have called on the fire department for help. Let us look a little farther into the future, let us anticipate what is likely to occur, and organize our forces in such a way that there will be no fire.

Improvements in the farm home and the addition of desirable equipment in the home will come slowly so long as the farm income barely pays the living expenses, interest and taxes. As a matter of fact, the standard of living on the farm is being raised faster than the income is being increased, and the Home Demonstration Agents deserve much credit for the accomplishment of so much when they have had so little to work with.

ED WHITE FINDS FEEDING WATERMELONS TO CHICKS IS PROVING PROFITABLE

Ed White, once employed by the Eagle Printing Company, but now farming with his brother, Jim White, on a farm east of Bryan, brought to The Eagle office this morning a watermelon, a sample from his one-acre patch. Mr. White says he has an abundance of melons but finds no sale for them, but he is putting to profitable use, feeding them to his flock of 500 White Leghorn chickens.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Buchanan and Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Buchanan departed Sunday in their cars for their homes in Dallas after spending the past week in Bryan with their parents Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Buchanan.

Teams At Work Navasot Bottom In Grimes County

About 40 or more mules are engaged today in building up a grade in the Navasot bottom, on the two and a quarter miles in Grimes county, according to E. E. Yeager of the highway committee of the Bryan Chamber of Commerce. Everything is all set to put this road up in first class shape and build the grade so high that any ordinary overflow will not affect travel, said A. McCormick, division engineer No. 17, State Highway Commission.

It is understood that the road has been worked on this side clear down to the Navasot bridge and that when the work is completed on the other side, in Grimes county, that the road will be passable to travel in almost any kind of weather and under almost any conditions. This work is being done at the Democrat Crossing on the Kurten road, the east and west highway through Brazos county, same having state designation.

Dr. Harrington To Visit Other State's Schools

AUSTIN, Aug. 10.—Dr. H. H. Harrington, chairman of the Texas State Board of Control, has begun a tour of Western universities and teacher colleges to make a study of their buildings and equipment for use in constructing the appropriations for the various Texas institutions of learning.

Dr. Harrington plans to visit the University of Missouri, also the Universities of Illinois, Minnesota, and California and probably seven or eight others, before returning to Austin. Having been the president of the Texas A. and M. College, Dr. Harrington has kept fairly well posted with reference to the operations of these colleges throughout the country and is not devoting his attention to the universities and teachers colleges. There are eight state-supported teacher colleges in Texas besides the courses in education given at the University and other State institutions.

At this time the Board of Control is adopting the final figures for the budget of recommendation to the Legislature and Dr. Harrington expects to have much valuable data in hand when he returns to Austin to put the finishing touches on the bills.

In the absence of Dr. Harrington, R. B. Walthall and Roy L. Tennant, members of the control board, will conduct the second hearings to give departmental and institution heads an opportunity to have their appropriations revised to retain items they desire most and eliminate those they are not anxious to hold, but staying within the limits now being fixed by the board.

SECRETARY EBERSTADT IS TRIED FOR EXTORTION IN AUCTION OF CAKES-MOCK TRIAL AT KURTEN

Evidently acting on the theory that people go where amusement is, the Kurten community club put in the program last Saturday night a "kangaroo" court trial directed by Judge Lamar Bethes of Bryan, in which Secretary Sam E. Eberstadt faced "charges" for extortion in the sale of cakes at community meetings. Among some of the chief witnesses appearing against Mr. Eberstadt were Hamp Buchanan and M. B. Easters, both of whom testified pretty strong against the defense, Buchanan saying it was his opinion that Mr. Eberstadt had sold a cake worth no more than seventy-five cents for $63.75. Mr. Buchanan easily proved the star witness in the case, bringing down the house, when asked how much family he had, by saying, "About a ton."

Secretary Eberstadt had no trouble in impeaching the testimony of Hamp Buchanan and easily proved Miss Easters to be a "bootlegger." However, the jury found the defendant guilty, but gave him a "suspended" sentence, provided he sold no more cakes for less than a dollar bid.

Following the mock trial, Hamp Buchanan, acting chairman in the absence of President John Sabo, turned the meeting over to County

Dr. Blackberg Resigns A. & M. To Go to Tulane

(Special to the Eagle.)
COLLEGE STATION, Aug. 9.—Dr. S. N. Blackberg, head of the department of physiology and pharmacology in the school of veterinary medicine at the A. and M. College of Texas, has resigned to accept a teaching fellowship in the department of pharmacology in the school of medicine at Tulane University.

Dr. Blackberg left the A. and M. College on Monday to begin a visit of nutritional laboratories of several schools and to visit his family in New York City before beginning work at Tulane University. He will stop at Johns Hopkins University, Pennsylvania State University, Columbia University, Cornell University and the Hygiene Laboratories at Washington.

Eight years ago Dr. Blackberg came to the A. and M. College of Texas as an instructor in physiology and pharmacology and at the time of his resignation was head of the department. He received his Doctor of Veterinary Medicine degrees at Cornell University, was given his B. S. degree at A. and M. College and now has completed all work for M. S. degree at A. and M. The veterinarian specialized in various phases of physiological research and cultivated a medicinal plant garden which was favorably commented on by authorities in Washington engaged in medicinal plant investigations. During the past five years Dr. Blackberg specialized in nutrition, having taken advanced work in nutrition at Columbia University before coming to the A. and M. College.

Dr. Mark Francis, dean of the school of veterinary medicine of the college, praised the work of Dr. Blackberg and said his leaving here was very much regretted.

Mrs. S. I. Dunn and daughter Mary Evelyn Dunn of Port Arthur have arrived in Bryan for a visit of several weeks with her mother, Mrs. Alice Roman and her brother W. B. Roman and family.

Outbreak of the Flea Reported In Brazos Bottoms

County Agent C. L. Beason and F. L. Thomas, entomologist for the A. and M. College, left this morning by car for the Brazos Bottom to make an investigation of reports that the cotton flea hopper has renewed activities in that section. They will be able to report the condition upon their return.

Mrs. Joe Yarbrough of Mexia has been visiting in Bryan for the past week with her niece, Mrs. W. A. Dean on East 24th street.

SEVENTEENTH ANNUAL SHORT COURSE CLOSSES SUCCESSFUL MEETING AT A. & M. COLLEGE

COLLEGE STATION, Aug. 7.—Characterized as the most successful and notable meeting by officials and attendants as well, the 17th annual Farmers' Short Course conducted by the A. and M. College of Texas on Saturday morning became history as the last of the 3,000 visitors departed for their homes.

Discussions of significance pertaining to the problems of the farmers were brought to the great assemblage of rural residents touching every vital phase of farm and home life. (The three-day program of the Texas Farm Bureau contained talks by nationally known agricultural people prominent for their knowledge and study of rural questions.) Lectures and demonstrations held daily for the women, men, boys, and girls groups gave them a broader vision and a more definite meaning of farm life.

Winners were announced and awards made in the biscuit, yeast bread, buttonhole, appropriate dress, poultry, grain, livestock, improved kitchen and other contests which were conducted throughout the year by county and home demonstration agents.

The Texas Farm Bureau held a three-day meeting during the course, bringing with it a number of outstanding agricultural speakers. Members of the Bureau adopted a resolution setting forth that "the seventeenth annual Farmers' Short Course held during the present week has been one of the

Hitching Racks In Place East Of S. P. Tracks

Through co-operation of city officials and the Bryan Chamber of Commerce, hitching racks have been installed on the vacant lots east of the S. P. tracks between 25th and 26th street, on Tabor Avenue, for use of country people in hitching their teams attached to or unhitched from, vehicles. This is for the convenience of the rural people in coming to Bryan and for the additional convenience to motorists in not being bothered with the vehicles in the traffic on Main street.

The racks stretch pretty well across the block, being in four sections with four posts to a section and about 50 feet or more of pipe running through each section of posts. The country people will find this a big help to them in trading in Bryan.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor E. Edge and little son ohn, their guest, Mrs. I. Hearne Johnson of Houston and nephew, T. T. Evans of Floresville, left Saturday by automobile for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Weaver at their ranch home at Freedomia, Texas. Mrs. Weaver is the mother of Mrs. Edge and Mrs. Johnson and was formerly Mrs. J. T. Evans of Bryan.

Food Handlers Must Get Their Certificates

Chief of Police W. S. Martin has been given authority to round up all food handlers who have not yet secured their health certificates and them approved by Dr. C. A. Searcy, city health officer. For some time the city has been endeavoring to get these health certificates in but without avail and now steps will be taken to force them in. All food handlers should get busy on this matter right away as the health of those who handle food has a direct and vital bearing upon the health of the people of the city and county.

Harris County Club Boys And Girls Visit Kurten Meet

Britten Henderson of Kurten was in Bryan yesterday with his guests, Homer Sheffield of Houston and Burnett Kasper of Crosby, two club boys who had been attending the Farmers' Short Course at A. and M. College and went to Kurten for the week-end and to see just how Kurten put on community club work Saturday night. Young Sheffield was elected state president of the Boys' and Girls' Club at the short course. He also made the trip to Chicago two years ago in company with Britten. Another visitor for the week-end was Miss Louise Kasper who was a guest of Misses Alice and Gussie Odom.

Mattie Thompson Of Edge Marries Bryon Allphin

A pretty marriage ceremony was solemnized this afternoon at the home of Rev. G. C. House, pastor of the Methodist church at Wheelock, when Miss Mattie Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Thompson of Edge became the bride of Mr. Bryon Allphin of Bryan. Rev. House was the officiating minister, and the ceremony was witnessed by only a few friends of the contracting parties. The bride is the accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Thompson of Edge, and one of the county's most popular and charming young women. The groom has made his home in Bryan for the past three years, during which time he has been connected with the Exchange Barber Shop in this city. A young man of unusually fine traits, energetic, and ambitious and enjoying the confidence and highest esteem of a large circle of friends. They will be at home to their friends in the Walter Dorn and cottage in the southwest part of the city.

MRS. PHEBE K. WARNER TELLS WRITERS AT CONFERENCE OF COUNTY UNIT PLAN FOR WOMEN

Phebe K. Warner, whose editorials have thrilled and inspired thousands of people in Texas to better life and living conditions, to higher ideals, is one of the agricultural writers attending the Writers' Conference at A. and M. College and has appeared on the program several times. Her talks are always looked forward to with a great deal of interest by the others at the Conference and she makes a hit whenever she takes the floor. Mrs. Warner is from Claude, Texas and was formerly the leading editorial writer on the Fort Worth Record before it was merged in the Star-Telegram. She now writes for a half dozen or more local papers in her section of the state.

Mrs. Warner is at A. and M. particularly interested in the county as a social unit for women's activities. This year she selected her own topic for discussion at the Short Course and that was the one she selected. Mrs. Warner is vice-chairman of the National Extension Committee of Women's Clubs and was at Washington for three months of work under Mrs. John D. Sherman, President of the National Federation of Women's Club, having returned home but two months ago.

The object of Mrs. Warner's idea of the county unit plan is to secure a county Federation of club women, city and rural, to arouse interest throughout the state of Texas, through the various counties, for a greater unity between women of rural and urban districts; greater unity among the organizations themselves; and to get every woman a member and interested in doing something for the welfare, progress and devel-

Club Notes and Farm News by County Agent C. L. Beason

The Boriskie Barbecue.
Victor Boriskie of the Golden Rule Poultry Farm deserves much credit for the enterprising spirit he demonstrated to visitors at the Short Course by giving at his farm a free barbecue on Thursday of last week. People from Longview to San Antonio were there, and there was plenty for twice the crowd. Some, of course, came only to eat, but there were those who desired to see what a farmer could do in the poultry business. They had seen at College everything latest in equipment and convenience for the poultryman, but to some it had appeared out of reach for the ordinary farmer. Boriskie's little plant showed what any farmer might do, if he would put the same thought and energy that Boriskie has put into his poultry enterprise. The cost of entertaining such a crowd as that visiting the Golden Rule Farm might seem unwise, but Mr. Boriskie is anxious to pass any success he has had on to others and beyond any doubt the cost, after all, will be taken care of by increased patronage in the future. In helping others, he has helped his own business, and that is quality products.

Helping the Farmers.
The New Egg Reporter, in quoting Edward Brown, F. L. S., Contributing Member, U. S. Egg Society, President of the World's Poultry Congress, and the International Association of Poultry Inspectors and Investigators, concerning the importance of unity of action between producers and distributors of poultry and poultry products, says: "The producer must learn and appreciate the difficulties involved in distribution and realize the importance of quality in its influence upon prices. Dealers must offer the fullest and most effective co-operation to the producer, making his interest their own." This is the "milk in the cocoanut" in any dealing involving the producer and the distributor, it matters not whether it be poultry, corn, cotton, truck or what not. Just and fair consideration should be the basis of every business dealing. Too long the business world stood by and saw agriculture exploited, and it is perhaps not yet altogether free from such, but the business world is seeing now as never before that agriculture must be made prosperous, or else other enterprises will likewise suffer; and hence the finest-trained business men are lending cooperation in bringing better business methods into the business of farming. Town and country are being brought together in a study of economic problems affecting the welfare of both business and farming, thus giving promise of a better day.

Marketing Quality Products.
In speaking of the marketing conditions in Bryan, J. L. Broach, one of the leading watermelon raisers of the county, says he has never had any trouble in selling high quality melons. Perhaps we have not yet learned the one important lesson in marketing, and Short Course is Great.

Carl Jones of Reliance says we are overlooking a wonderful source of help when we pass up the A. and M. Short Course. You are right, Mr. Jones; it is a wonderful feast, spread for the farmers and farm women of Texas; but we need to have our appetites "whetted" for the enjoyment of same.

Third Period Ends Soon.

Just a few days more and the time is again up for the contest in the Howell Lumber Company club prize. Edge and Shirock won the last time by small margins. Who will win this time, August 31? Let nothing interfere with attendance at your club meetings. Keep up your records. Let's go.

Get Behind Club Work.

In speaking at the Kurten community meeting on last Saturday night, Homer Sheffield, a visiting club member from Harris county, urged the Kurten people to get behind club work, a potent factor in helping kindle the fires of ambition in the youth, and a training for better leadership. It was pointed out that Gussie Odom had been elected secretary of the boys' and girls' club at Short Course, won the popularity contest, and got on the air as a result of being a club member. Homer is certainly sold on club work. Who should not be? It has not yet reached the goals set, but it is founded on right principles that make for the better things in life. Your help and encouragement is needed to help put the work over.
